

Dear Parents, Families and members of the College Community,

Welcome (back) to the College for the new school year.

On Monday, 160 Year 7's were also accompanied by new Year 8, 9, 10, 11's for a few hours, plus our Year 11's and 12's.

On Wednesday we celebrated Eucharist and officially welcomed our new students and staff. We were also welcoming our new College Chaplain Fr Stephen, who assisted our Parish Priest Fr Brennan with the Mass.

On Tuesday, the Year 7 parents had an Information Evening; Curriculum and Pastoral Care teams were introduced. The main part of the evening was spent with House Coordinators and Home Room teachers. Our Year 7's have settled in very well, (mostly) finding their way around and cracking their combination locks like old hands.

Students were served from the new Canteen on Tuesday. The new fridges and food warmers will be arriving by next week, some fridges for drinks are 2 weeks away. The re-vitalized Canteen quadrangle will be occupied by students hopefully by the end of next week.

The refurbishment and erection of new classrooms for Robotics, Fashion and Textiles and new Multipurpose (mainly Art) is slightly ahead of schedule at this point in the project.

This week the ViSN students flew to Perth for their ViSN Camp at Sir Thomas Moore College, accompanied by Mr Vogel and Mrs Adams. Mrs Vinci and Mrs Jordan—College ViSN teachers who work from home in Perth and Carnarvon—will also be attending the camp.

Year 11 and 12 students have settled into a study routine very quickly. The Year 11 Esperance Camp experience will be next week. This is a good time for some bonding, goal setting and some introductory pointers for WACE courses; past Esperance Camps have been well appreciated by students.

Dancing commences next week for Middle School. Sports Uniform can be worn all week - House and Sports Shirts can be utilized. The not-to-be-missed Year 7/8 Social will be held on Friday night. Once again, Humphrey's Dance Studio will be working with our students.

The P and F Meetings commence Tuesday, 6pm in the College Boardroom, Pat Kelly Wing. The Staff Car Park will be open; Love to see you there!

(Mr Hall - Principal)

New Staff at JPC

I have been working for 11 years as a Canteen Manager and my desire was always to be more available to students. I realised how important it is for them to have someone to just listen. My passion led me into this role of Chaplaincy as it gives me the opportunity to be there for the students and to assist and support them in anyway I can, emotionally and spiritually. Here at JPC, I want to create a safe place where students will be understood and listened to. I want them to come to a place where they feel they belong, feel worthy and accepted for who they are.

The days I will be available are Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. Feel free to contact me at the College on 9021 4377 or email: Carla.vanheerden@cewa.edu.au.

(Carla Van Heerden - School Chaplain)

I have recently relocated back to Kalgoorlie after living in Broome for the last 10 years. I enjoy spending time with my family and going camping.

I have experience working with youth and in the community services support sector. I am passionate about seeing young people succeed in life and look forward to becoming part of the John Paul College community and the broader Kalgoorlie community.

(Rebecca O'Brien - ATA)

New Staff at JPC

I became a teacher late after working 15 years as a Telecommunications Technician, 1 year Owner builder, 10 years as a small business owner before I switched over to teaching and worked at Meekatharra. I then left teaching to run the Meekatharra airport on a 6 and 2 week roster. Then back into teaching at Karalundi Aboriginal education Centre, Morawa, Kambalda and last year at Emmanuel and Seton Catholic Colleges. I am a Design and Technology teacher and have spent time at all locations teaching mathematics. When I was young I did running and jumping sports like football and basketball. Due to wear and tear I have moved on to sit down sports such as Avon descents and Ocean ski racing. Then with developing maturity I moved into lawn bowls and lay down on the ground target rifle.

(Paul Smith - Design & Technology Department)

I have only very recently moved to Kalgoorlie from Perth, but am originally from Cheshire in the UK. This is my first year out as a Graduate Teacher (from the University of Notre Dame Australia) and I am very excited (and feeling rather privileged) to begin my teaching career here at John Paul College, and amongst the lovely Kalgoorlie community. I will be taking a few of the lower school English classes this year and helping with the running of some literacy sessions. My favourite book series of all time is 'The Sunday Philosophy Club' by Alexander McCall-Smith because his stories are so intriguing. I am really looking forward to getting to know everyone this year

Rufus Gill comes to John Paul College from the Baptist College and will be teaching in the Science Department.

Dylan Sarolea completed his prac at the College in 2019 and we welcome him back in his new role teaching in the Health & Physical Education Department.

I am new to Kalgoorlie – I moved up at the end of January to take up the role of Mathematics teacher for Years 7 – 10 at John Paul College. I was born and bred in Perth and have a background in accounting, with teaching being my second career pursuit! I have loved what I have experienced of Kalgoorlie and JPC so far and am keen to get stuck in and meet all the students. I love tennis and footy and will be getting involved in the local sports teams, so you will probably see me around town!

USEFUL LIFE SKILLS FOR SCHOOL

Students need important life skills, both 'soft' skills that involve direct communication, and the routines that establish independence. These are the skills that will allow for more successful learning in the classroom and a greater sense of belonging at school and in the greater world.

Addressing others respectfully

Email is a common form of written communication between teachers and students, and, unless told otherwise, students should begin with "Dear Mr/Mrs/Miss..." and not "Hey" or "Hi". Students often have very limited interaction, electronically or otherwise, with adults who are not relatives or friends of their parents. They can be unsure how to address and interact with older people and authority figures. Doing it right isn't difficult, as long as they choose their words more carefully than when talking to their friends and don't put their feet up on the furniture.

Managing their own schedules

Students who have organised their own schedules - getting themselves to school or practice, showing up for events or simply getting home for dinner on time - are more confident at school.

Let your children learn by managing their own schedules. One parent kept track of the number of minutes spent waiting for her constantly late son, and deducted those minutes, times five, from his weekly screen time. When he had a good (not perfect) week, he got bonus minutes. Screen time, game time, play time - whatever is valued can be used to teach this lesson.

Getting around, especially on public transport

How many students manage their own transportation, whether it's driving themselves or knowing the schedules of public transport or using cycle ways?

Cycling with someone who rides every day is a fast way to learn about safe routes. Parents can get their children into the habit of using public transport where it exists rather than taking them everywhere in the car. Make it a family routine to plan not only an event but the best method of getting there.

How would your child get on if they had to start work to-day?

No matter how smart your children are, if they are trying to learn life skills at the same time they are taking on the load and pressure of a new year at school, they will be at a disadvantage.

When students are not able to get to class because they can't get up or don't manage their time well, when they miss assignments or take late penalties because they don't know how to prioritise, when they are not paying attention or are just rude to their teacher or to their classmates because they are distracted by hunger or uncertain how to act, all of those things affect their grades, and others' assessment of them.

Ask yourselves how well your child would fare if their working life started today. And if the answers make you unsure, you've got time to change them. Demonstrate good manners, especially when talking to other adults or people in positions of authority. Insist your children look adults in the eye and greet them, answer questions clearly and make conversation. Let your teens organise their own after-school time, maybe just one day a week. Let them find out the consequences of spending all their time on a phone instead of getting work done. Let them organise their own transportation for one element of their lives.

Every young person will find their own way; every parent will let go in their own way. But moving forward is easier for everyone - parent, student and teacher - when life skills are passed on before they are needed.
